

Neshaminy. After losing seven of their final eight games last season, the Redskins (3-7, 0-4 Patriot) will try to regain the form that paved the way to a state championship in 2001 and an 8-3 mark in 2002.

Coach Mark Schmidt has a veteran, top-notch placekicker in senior Kevin Kelly. Field goals of up to 55 yards are easily within his reach.

The offense will be sparked by senior tailback George Coleman, a second-team all-league selection as a wide receiver last year. Andrew Flogel, a highly touted sophomore, is the new quarterback.

Twelve sophomores lettered last year, so the junior class will make big contributions. Two-way tackle Tom McEowen (6-4, 265), end/linebacker Josh Auerbach (6-2, 230) and two-way end Chris Daino (6-4, 240) are among that group.

Andy Marino, a center and middle guard, is a senior captain. Chris Eccles is a senior tight end and linebacker.
