During the past seven years, under Lions sponsorship, this game has produced thousands of dollars for the needy of the county. Lionism directs most of its efforts to the visually impaired. In addition, each local club involves itself in various programs in its own community to help the needy.

The majority of the 30 active Lions Clubs in Bucks County rally together annually for this event.

The 1983 game recently had its application certified approved by NCAA. All NCAA regulations will be enforced to protect the amateur status of the participants.
