
The Redskins line up against Dallas. The Redskins converted key fumbles into a 31-0 win, and dropped Dallas coach's record to 1-5.

Skins
In So

Pleckaitis, All
Lead Washingto

According to coach Vincent Tomasi, the 1967 Redskins can-not help improve to have a highly successful season. The success of the team will be contributed greatest amount Gary Ullm and Wayne Pleckaitis, with Jim-mie Rick Allen and Scott Fish-ment adding their vital experience to the team.

Coach Tomasi will depend on two outstanding sophomores, Steve Ongie and Lee Roderick, other important members of the team are pointer Allen Ramsey and Terry Markowski, lin-

REDSKINS EVEN GRID RECORD

After losing the opener to a tough Dallas team again, 31-0, the Washington Redskins traveled to Bethesville, Penna. on September 17 to face Pennridge High School. This game marked the first victory for any Washington football team, Peter Corbett, Pennridge fullback was a thorn in the Redskin defense throughout the game, scoring all of the Pennridge points. The victory was a result of the strong running attack of the Redskin backfield, and by the hot controlling of quarterback Tony Green, and a strong defensive unit.

Pennridge won the toss to begin the game with Eagle elect Jim Reed. After averaging 37 yards per kick, passed to the five yard line. There the Pennridge punt returner fumbled, but regained possession quickly, and worked down field for a touchdown. On the following kickoff, however, sophomore Dick Shaw fumble recovered the ball at the ten yard line, and rushed for very for a 90 yard return, which erased the score at six apiece.

With Eagle in possession, the Redskins started a drive that was to go 80 yards. Greg Allen, Bill Young, Bill Gregory, and Tom Pendergast proved the point after next behind the blocking of Tim Richards, Jim Wentzel, Steve Ongie, Pete Markowski, and Charlie Schmidt. That finish the six yard line, Eagle barreled through the middle for the six points, and Greg Townsend's conversion made the Redskins score read 13-0.

The third period saw the Skins utilize a ball control attack, with sophomore Lee Roderick scoring the goal line. That is the main story of the third quarter, the Redskins settled on a 19 yardgame with Jones making the long run of the day. Pennridge kicked the extra point but the Skins 20th point, which clinched the victory.

On September 24 the Redskins played host to the powerful Red Rovers of Quincy. This was the first league game for Washington in the City by the Potomac. For the second time in succession, the Redskins lost on home grounds. The score was 27-0.

After kicking off, Quincy quickly captured possession, in one play, the Red Rovers scored to penetrate behind the five passing of Mark Ali Hanneny, who sifted the touchdown. The conversion was missed. Later in the first quarter, the Red Rovers scored again following a recovery of a Redskin fumble. The quarter ended with the Skins trailing, 13-0.

The second half proved to be a well fought defensive battle. Each team's defense held the Redskins scoreless in the second half, while the Redskin defensive unit proved the powerful Red Rover offense was quite capable even the final two minutes. The final score read Redskins 0, Redskins 27.

On September 24, the Redskins traveled to Alexandria to face Wilson Allen, in another big ball game. There was no doubt in anyone's mind that Wednesday had brought along a well drilled defensive unit. In fact last Wednesday of the year, the defense held Allen to a total of 24 yards gained.

Allen's inability to score the ball on the ground was due to the fine defensive line of Bill Brennan, Steve Ongie, Pete Markowski, Bob Fiddes, Mike Hyder, Joel Patinsky, and Steve Baldwin. They caused Allen to try the airlanes, but the Redskin secondary proved equal to the task. Of 24 attempted passes, Allen completed just nine, for a yardage gain of 79 yards, but for most of the game, the Centaurs were pinned deep in their own territory by the fine punting of Bob Green.

The Centaurs received the first kickoff of the game when Bill Brennan sent pat a punt that is pinned Bob, which caused Allen kick on his thirties. Allen took over on the Redskin 24, and scored two plays later. The missed conversion made the Redskins score read 6-0.

Early in the second half Allen was in possession on Redskin one 25. Following a loss of six yards on a fumble, the Redskins' Bill Brennan hurried Bob Hyder in the reservation place to sack the quarterback for losses amounting to 13 yards. On fourth down, the Centaurs attempted to punt, but with Brennan rushing again, the kick traveled only to the Allen 14. On fourth down from the 21, quarterback Wayne Burke passed nine years to Bill Young, who went in for the score. Greg Townsend booted the all-important PAT, giving the Redskins their second and well-fought full victory.