

Easton, Pennsbury Dominate All-Stars

The Big Six Football Conference changed its name to Big Seven Monday, and at the same time released an All-Star team that includes six players each from champion Easton and runner-up Pennsbury.

Somewhat unusual was the selection of both Dieruff linebackers — Ted Steiner and Gerry Houser, to those positions on the defensive unit.

The league, meeting in Neshaminy, changed its name because of the addition next season of Freedom. The Patriots, however, will not be eligible for individual or teams honors until they play all conference members, and that may not be until 1969.

Easton players cited on offense by the six coaches were Tony Corallo, end; Phil Noto, guard, and Daryl Woodring and Bob Pilz, backs. On defense the Red Rovers placed Robbin Griffin and Kim Miller, both in the secondary.

Pennsbury players making the offensive team were Len Shober, tackle; Gordon Davies, guard, and Bill Evans, halfback on defense, Falcons named were Dave Billy, end; Mark Lindenmuth, tackle; Davis, middle guard, and Mike Farley, secondary.

Also making the first team from The Morning Call area were end Joe Donaher of Liberty, center Dave Dorward of Dieruff and quarterback John Rabuck of Liberty. Picked on defense was end Dan Yochum of Liberty.

Principal Joseph Barrett of Dieruff was elected president. Also elected were W. Donald Henry of Pennsbury, vice president, and Phil Phillippi of Liberty, secretary - treasurer.
